Introducing New Mobile Web Site
for Valves and Systems

Hastings, MI, USA – Viking Group, a global leader in fire protection and life safety systems, announces the launch of a new mobile web site featuring technical resources on various Viking valves and systems. This is Viking’s second mobile site, developed as part of its continuing efforts to provide better access to information via mobile devices, such as smart phones and tablet computers. The new “valves and systems” site follows Viking’s first mobile web site launched last month featuring BlazeMaster® CPVC piping systems.

This new mobile resource provides customers with a convenient way to access technical information in the field for various Viking valves, devices, and systems. For example, the site includes several “Product Repair Videos” which give step-by-step instructions for inspecting, servicing, and repairing several Viking products. Users can also view comprehensive “System Reset Videos” detailing the operation of various Viking systems as well as instructions for putting the systems back into service. Other helpful resources include links to product-specific FAQs, troubleshooting guides, and installation manuals. Customers can also use the site’s innovative “VSN Facility Locator” to quickly find their closest Viking SupplyNet service center.

The new mobile web site can be accessed either by scanning the QR bar code found below, or visiting the following URL: <http://vikinggroup.mobi/c/5518>

Smart phone users can download any number of free applications, such as ScanLife®, for scanning QR codes with their mobile device. After launching the app, users are typically prompted to scan the code, often through the device's camera feature, and are then automatically directed to the mobile site. Each QR code is unique and is directed to specific mobile content. Questions regarding how to access Viking's mobile web site can be emailed to info@vikingcorp.com.
